GROWING WITH OUR LOCAL CUSTOMERS

Car Spares Factors (CSF) was established in 1977 in Highbury from a small shop. The business was called Alpha Automotive Spares.

Over the next five years, the business bought the adjoining properties to create a 10,000 sq. ft. premises and, in 1986, extended again to add new warehouse space. By this time, the business was the leading car spares supplier in North London.

In 1988, we became one of the first parts suppliers in the area to offer free delivery, and within two years, we had five vans on the road, making local deliveries.

Our business growth has been a combination of acquisition and organic growth. We acquired a number of companies over the years:

- Car Spares Finchley in 1992
- John Michael Car Spares in 1996
- AK Motor Spares in 1997
- Saxons Motor Factors in 2023

Alongside these acquisitions, we invested heavily in warehouse and office space, vehicle fleets and staff to help meet increased demand. This included combining some of our earlier shops into single, larger spaces so that we could hold more stock and service customers faster.

We were also early investors in technology, and automated all our stock control, invoicing and accounting systems in 2003 so that we could make our service quicker, more accurate and more efficient. Our business model was working well and in 2005, we applied it to a brand new site in Welwyn Garden City, and quickly became the area's leading supplier.

2010 saw a management buyout and re-brand to Car Spares Factors – or CSF. This brought all the businesses together under a single brand, and kicked off an investment programme that included a brand new fleet of delivery vehicles, increased stock and additional warehouse space.

Since then, we have continued to expand the business, establish a new headquarters in New Southgate and created our inter-branch service to give customers even better service. We have a team of call centre staff answering hundreds of calls from our customers every single day, for help and advice and to place orders efficiently. We also have a dedicated WhatsApp number for instant messaging, which sets us apart from many other motor factors.

In 2023, we continued our growth strategy with the acquisition of Saxons Motor Factors in Harrow, expanding our geographical reach across North London, Hertfordshire, Essex and Middlesex.

Having been in business since 1979, CSF Saxons has a long-standing reputation and the same 'family business' ethos and focus on customer service excellence as CSF. Now known as CSF Saxons, the business continues to be managed by the existing owners. CSF Saxons customers benefit from access to £3m of stock, integrated IT systems and an exceptional fleet of drivers who are on the roads making deliveries often within an hour.

We know the motor industry inside and out, giving you trusted advice on the correct car parts, accessories, tools and consumables you need.
